Understanding and Using Your Client Web Portal

The Client Web Portal (CWP) is a secure website your financial advisor can use to keep you updated on your investment accounts. It allows your advisor to post reports and other files to a secure website, to which you both have access. Depending on how your advisor configures the CWP, you might also be able to upload documents (such as account statements, tax information, etc.) to the site for him/her to review.

Overview

This document explains the following procedures related to logging into the CWP:

- ▶ how to login to the CWP
- ▶ what to do if you forget your CWP password
- ▶ what to do if you do not receive the e-mail to reset your password
- ▶ how to change the e-mail address you use to login to your CWP
- ▶ how to change your CWP password, and
- ▶ what to do if you no longer have access to the e-mail address you use to log into the CWP.

For any other issue regarding your CWP, please contact your financial advisor directly.

How you initially access the CWP depends on the following factors:

- ▶ If you do not already have a subscription to a Morningstar product (such as Morningstar.com, or one of our Investor Newsletters), your advisor will either require you to set your own password to the CWP, or provide one for you. Even if your advisor provides you with a password, you will need to immediately change this upon first accessing the CWP.
- ▶ If you already have a subscription to a Morningstar product (such as Morningstar.com, or one of our Investor Newsletters), your advisor can use the same e-mail address you use to login to that product. Likewise, you should use the same password you use to login to the Morningstar product/website.
- ▶ If the password you created for the Morningstar product does not conform to the security standards on the CWP, you will have to change the password on the original product, then return to the CWP and login with the new password.

Once your advisor sets up your Client Web Portal, you will receive at least one e-mail with your log in information, similar to one of the following two examples:
